Editor's Reply to a College President

The tradition of this newspaper is that it will give any person or institution twice the space used by The Editor in replying to him. In yesterday's edition, therefore, you read a two-column letter from Imon E. Bruce, president of Southern State College at Magnolia, discussing our editorial of January 31 on the 1c soda-pop tax and the state-supported colleges.

Overnight the 1c-per-bottle tax proposed for soda-pop blew a cap, its author having withdrawn his bill under state-wide fire.

But it or some other sumptuary tax proposal may be revived, and to keep the record straight I feel it is necessary to answer President Bruce here and now.

The basic issue is, of course, simply this: Where do we establish the cut-off point on the state's guarantee of a free public education — at the high school or college level? This point is crucial, because, should the state issue 52 million dollars in bonds for college construction work and the soda-pop or any other suggested tax fail to discharge principal and maturity then the debt would back up on the State General Fund — with incalculable loss to the public schools.

All the years he has edited this newspaper your writer has defended the high-school level. I have been consistent in this. Today President Bruce defends the college level. He is inconsistent, making his reasoning fit his change in jobs.

Back in 1955 when I circulated the petition to refer to a popular vote the legislative act to exempt poultry and livestock feed from the 2% tax Imon E. Bruce was superintendent of the public schools. He, like myself, then considered the preservation of revenue for the high school level to be the basic issue. Mr. Bruce, for whom I have the highest personal regard as a man and as an educator, helped circulate that petition with his friends and organization. But today he is a college president — and that changes a fellow's viewpoint. Now he sees the college — rather than the high school level — as being paramount.

I have some corrections to make in Mr. Bruce's article of yesterday.

He makes the point that since soda-pop has gone from 5c a bottle to as high as 10c in vending machines an additional 1c for taxation is of no importance. But this newspaper used to sell for 15c a week, and now sells for 30c. An automobile that used to cost from $700 to $800 now sells for $2,100 or more. Bottlers are under the same pressure from rising production costs as any other business — and no reasonable man can cite their present retail price as justification for singling them out for taxation alone.

Regarding my contention that a 1c tax on a bottle of soda-pop would be a tax on the poor, Mr. Bruce wrote: "Such a tax would be levied on everyone, rich and poor alike." But of course, I, who have the price of a thousand bottles and the school-boy-son of a tenant farmer who has the price of but one — we all pay the 1c tax. This reminds me of the story of the GI who went into a Paris restaurant in the last war and saw an item on the menu: "Horse-Rabbit Sandwich, 50-50." The GI asked the proprietor, "What do you mean, 50-50?" Replied the Frenchman: "One horse — one rabbit."

Mr. Bruce asked yesterday what qualification I, an educational layman, could possibly have to criticize a college. Well, I never have published this fact before, but this seems to be the place for it.

In the vault among my personal papers I have a letter dated March 7, 1924 — the year after I was graduated from the University of Missouri — offering me a place on the university faculty. If Missouri thought enough about me to make that offer 37 years ago I suspect I am qualified to cross swords with any college president today.

I am not opposed to Southern State College, even though it started off as a rural high school and was lobbied into becoming a state-supported college. Nor am I opposed to Henderson State at Arkadelphia, although the Methodists abandoned old Henderson Brown College and local interests persuaded the state to take it over as a tax-supported college.

But I do want to point out that these were essentially local enterprises that were unloaded on the state government, and if their friends keep pushing for sumptuary taxes on the poor like the late-lamented soda-pop tax they are inviting the citizens to demand that one or two of them be shut down as an economy move so the others can live. Other cities have had junior colleges, paying for them largely with tuition and other local support. El Dorado had one, until it finally closed. Texarkana, Texas, still has one, basically supported at home with some state-aid from Texas.

Education through high school is basic. College is optional. Mr. Bruce has changed both his job and viewpoint. I have done neither.

Soft Drink Tax Measure Is Withdrawn

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill that would have put a penny-a-bottle tax on soft drinks to finance construction for state colleges and institutions was withdrawn in the Arkansas House Monday.

But the construction needs were not withdrawn and several legislators expressed hope they could be met through an alternate bill to finance a $52 million bond issue from current revenues.

Rep. Harry J. Colay of Columbia County, the author of the controversial soft drink tax bill, said he was withdrawing the measure because it had no chance of passing in the House.

Colay said he could muster only 31 votes for the tax, and 51 were needed to pass it. Senate leaders had said that even if the bill passed the House, it faced sudden death in the Senate.

The bill, which was drawn up by presidents of state colleges and the University of Arkansas, probably failed because the legislators are reluctant to impose any new taxes during the present recession period.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus put it this way: "It failed to get support because people are cost conscious and tax conscious, unusually so."

Faubus met with the college presidents after the bill's death. At details of their conversation were not disclosed. The presidents announced they were depending on the legislature to find some means of financing the needed construction.

Garland Rep. Ray S. Smith said he has high hopes for the passage of his alternate bill, which would use current revenues to meet building needs.

In an important action in the Senate Monday, a bill was introduced to repeal the free election law of 1959 which removed the names of presidential candidates.

Farm Bureau Membership Quota 710

Hempstead County Farm Bureau launched the personal contact phase of its membership campaign on Monday night, February 6. The Farm organization seeks to enroll 710 families.

Burgess Garrett, county president, said Charles Key has been selected to head the drive as membership chairman. Township captains are: R. E. Garrett, William Schooley, Audrey Wilson, Bob Huffman, of DeRoan; Bodcaw, Paris Jones; Bos D'Arc, Mrs. Mary Spates; Garland, Irvin Burke, Sidney Cash; Mine Creek, Sloman Goodlett; Nolen, Andrew Avery; Ozan, Moss Rowe; Redland, Gordon Prescott; Saline, B. C. Webb, Johnnie Wilson; Spring Hill, Warren Butler, Garland Kidd; Wallaceburg, Guy Loe; Wattercreek, Roy Fry and N. B. Coleman.

Workers will report results of the first week's effort on February 13. A second and final report has been scheduled February 27.

"Farmers here have indicated their approval of Farm Bureau accomplishments in the past by loyally renewing their membership," Mr. Garrett commented. Last year's county membership was 703.

State College Asks Status of University

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today a bill which would allow Arkansas State College to gain university status is much better than a similar measure introduced in the 1959 legislature.

Faubus declined to say what stand he would take on the new bill, which would permit any state college achieving certain standards to become a university. The governor maintained a hands-off attitude toward the 1959 bill, which passed the Senate and died in the House after a bitter fight.

The 1959 bill would have permitted only Arkansas State College to become a university.

"This bill is better, because it is inclusive," Faubus said. "It doesn't confine the possibility of university status to one school."

Faubus noted that a number of well-known universities in this country have fewer students than the minimum required for university status in the pending bill. The minimum is 2,000 full-time students from Arkansas, about 200 more than Arkansas State now has.

Sponsors of the new measure say that only Arkansas State could meet the requirements for university status in the immediate future.

Faubus said he did not think the bill as presently drawn presented a financial threat to the University of Arkansas.

Assistance for 54 Communities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has said 54 Arkansas communities have received assistance in the public facilities loan program and liberalizing action in the program by President Kennedy will aid more communities in solving their public works problems.

Fulbright said Kennedy has made loans available to all communities, regardless of size or type project. Previously, the senator noted, the program was limited to cities of under 10,000 population and generally to loans for water and sewer systems.

One of the more important Arkansas loans, Fulbright said, was one which cleared the way for construction of a Mississippi River bridge near Helena.

Tests Continue on Grave Robber

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Judge William J. Kirby said Monday he would approve a request from the state hospital for a 30-day extension for further examination of A-2C Jerry Reynolds, arrested last month in connection with two grave robberies at Jacksonville.

State Hospital superintendent Granville Jones said last week he would request the 30-day extension, but Kirby said Monday he had not received such a request.

Reynolds, who was stationed at Little Rock Air Force Base, was arrested Jan. 11 in connection with the opening of two graves in Jacksonville cemeteries and the theft of a body from one of the graves.

Reynolds was committed to the state hospital after his arrest to undergo a 30-day mental examination.

Brown Bros. Buy Livestock Commission

Sutton's Livestock Commission, owned and operated here by Claude Sutton for over 30 years, was sold today to Don and Gilbert Brown, local stockmen. The amount of the transaction was not revealed. The new owners took over today's regular auction sale and announced there would be no change in the day of the sale.

Both the Browns have been in the livestock business here for many years and have lived here most of their lives.

The new owners announced they would "offer their service to stock men and invited everybody to visit them. The auction rates will remain the same and we plan to bring in more buyers."

Auctioneer will be Darwin Smith and Ringmaster will be Leonard McDaniels, both of Idabel, Okla. L. E. Brown, father of the new owners, will be field man for the firm.

C. V. Nunn Jr. Resigns as City Attorney

C. V. Nunn Jr., city attorney resigned his post Monday, effective March 1, and his resignation was accepted by Hope's Board of Directors.

Mr. Nunn will join a law firm in Lordsburg, New Mexico sometime in March.

He has served four years as deputy prosecuting attorney in this county under Travis Mathis and has served approximately eight years as Hope City Attorney.

Mr. Nunn was very instrumental in this city's changeover from the mayor-alderman plan of government to the present city manager plan. Hope was the first city in Arkansas to adopt the city manager plan.

Man Who Shot an Officer Is Sane

OZARK, Ark. (AP) — A 25-year-old DeSoto, Kan., man charged with shooting a state trooper has been found sane after a 30-day State Hospital examination and will be returned to the sheriff at Ozark.

Man Asks $11 Million Acre

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — A man who wants $20 million — roughly $11 million per acre — for land condemned by the state Highway Department, took his plea into the second day of an elaborate trial in Saline County Circuit Court today.

Marshall Stanley, 68-year-old septic tank manufacturer, testified for six hours Monday explaining why he thought the land should be valued at such a large amount. His testimony was given over strenuous objections from Highway Department attorney Paul Johnson who contended there had been a misconception of the law. The Highway Department claims the land is worth only a few thousand dollars.

The defense has about 25 witnesses, the state about 15.

Snow, Sleet, Rain, Fog Spread Out

Snow, sleet, rain and fog besieged Texas while the Northeastern states labored today to eradicate the drifts of their multimillion-dollar weekend storm.

One to two inches of new snow fell in an area from north-central Texas through eastern Oklahoma and into eastern Kansas. The snow is spreading toward the middle Mississippi and the lower Ohio River Valley. Spared from the new snowfall was Texas' eastern Panhandle, buried under previous amounts up to 12 inches.

Texas had snow as far south as Eagle Pass, near Laredo, where snow is rare. Schools were closed in scores of places.

Clear skies brought relief to the Northeastern states, victims of the weekend storm that left snow as deep as 17.4 inches. The seven states hardest hit by the snow reported more than 55 storm deaths.

While the Northeast struggled with snow, Midwest water traffic labored against ice floes that jammed the Great Lakes and the Ohio River. Ice jams closed four dams on 70 miles of the Ohio River. A spokesman of the U. S. Engineers said it was very difficult to move any traffic through the heavy ice. He said the worst stretch was the 180 miles between Marysville and Louisville, Ky.

Temperatures generally were below freezing except for marks in the 40s and 50s in the West from Washington and Idaho southward and in the Southeast. Temperatures in the 60s and around 70 occurred in central and southern Florida.

Newcomers Get a Tax Break

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus has signed into law a House bill exempting persons moving into Arkansas from payment of the state income tax on wages or salaries earned outside the state during the year of their move.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Hardy Croxon of Benton County.

Kennedy Asks Minimum Wage of $1.25 Hour

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today sent to Congress — with a plea for "prompt consideration" — a bill to boost the $1 minimum wage to $1.25 and give 4.3 million more workers the protection of a wage floor.

The higher minimum, Kennedy said in a message to House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., would be achieved by a series of annual rises "to which employers can readily adjust."

"Our nation can ill-afford to tolerate the growth of an underprivileged and underpaid class," the letter said.

"Substandard wages lead necessarily to substandard living conditions, hardship and distress. Since the last increase in the minimum wage both living costs and productivity have increased to such an extent that the proposed bill merely reflects an adjustment to keep pace with these factors."

The draft bill to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act spells out the minimum wage proposals Kennedy recommended in his anti-recession and economic policy message to Congress on Feb. 2.

Employees now under the wage minimum would be stepped up to $1.15 in the first year, $1.20 in the second year and $1.25 thereafter. About 24 million workers are now

Sees Action Against Pair at El Dorado

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., has said he expects action against Earl and Ermon Griffin of El Dorado by the national steamfitters and plumbers union because of the way they administered the union's Local 706 in Arkansas.

McClellan is chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee which Monday charged that the Griffins "breached their trust" as union officials.

McClellan filed an interim report with the Senate containing numerous charges against the El Dorado brothers, many of them relating to union actions on the $82 million federal arsenal project at Pine Bluff in 1951-54.

The senator said his report also was submitted to the national union, the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry. Failure of the parent union to take action against the Griffins, McClellan said, would constitute approval of their actions.

Earl Griffin, formerly head of Local 706 of the union at El Dorado, now is an international representative of the parent union. Ermon Griffin is secretary-treasurer of Local 706.

McClellan said the Rackets Subcommittee, which he formerly headed, became interested in the affairs of the El Dorado local after receiving many complaints from workers on the Pine Bluff project, charging misuse of union funds.

The committee took testimony on the matter last year in closed session, then made it public Dec. 29. Earl Griffin replied that some of the witnesses had perjured themselves.

McClellan's report charged that Earl Griffin illegally collected payments from union members and others for the privilege of working on the Pine Bluff job.

It said the sums collected from non-members of Local 706 on the job were not voluntary contributions and the forced payments violated the constitution of the national union as well as federal and state laws.

The report further charged that about $111,444 of the $214,976 collected by 706 from workers on the Pine Bluff job has "mysteriously disappeared."

The brothers were charged with extravagant unnecessary expenditures of the union's funds, in purchasing a number of items, including two airplanes and hunting and fishing equipment.

from the general election ballot. Sen. John D. Eldridge of Augusta and Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs introduced the measure. They said it would put the candidates' names back on the ballot and remove the names of electors.

The 1959 law, similar to one passed in five other Southern States, specified that electors, names only should appear, and that they should be free from obligation to back the party ticket.

Eldridge said voters in his district want the names of the candidates on the ballot, and also want the electors to be bound, as much as the constitution allows.

In Faubus' bill, two amendments could be submitted by a special session and a majority of those voting would be enough to ratify the proposed amendment.

Under present law, the legislature can propose amendments only in regular session and the limit for each session is three.

Another amendment introduced Monday would bring the legislature into session for 30 days each January instead of 60 days every two years.

Faubus Monday completed the legislative process on a number of bills, signing them into law. One increases the maximum penalty for destroying property by bombing from five to 20 years.

Another freezes the distribution formula for the $2,670,000 county turnback fund on 1950 census figures. Another repeals the 1/2 cent a pound tax on honey.

One requires that a child be six years old on or before Oct. 1 of the year in which he enters the first grade. And another appropriates an additional $33,000 to operate two new cottages at the state Children's Colony.

The House Monday defeated a bill to give municipalities a larger share of road money. Under present law, the state Highway Department gets 83.24 per cent and the city turnback fund 17.76 per cent of all road funds after a set amount is deducted for the county turnback fund.

The proposed bill would have cut the state's share to 84.21 per cent and give the cities 15.79, leaving the counties' share unchanged.

A bill introduced in the House Monday would provide a uniform statewide crackdown on drivers who refuse to take sobriety tests. The bill would make driving a car legal consent by the driver to take the blood, breath, saliva or urine tests to determine sobriety or intoxication.

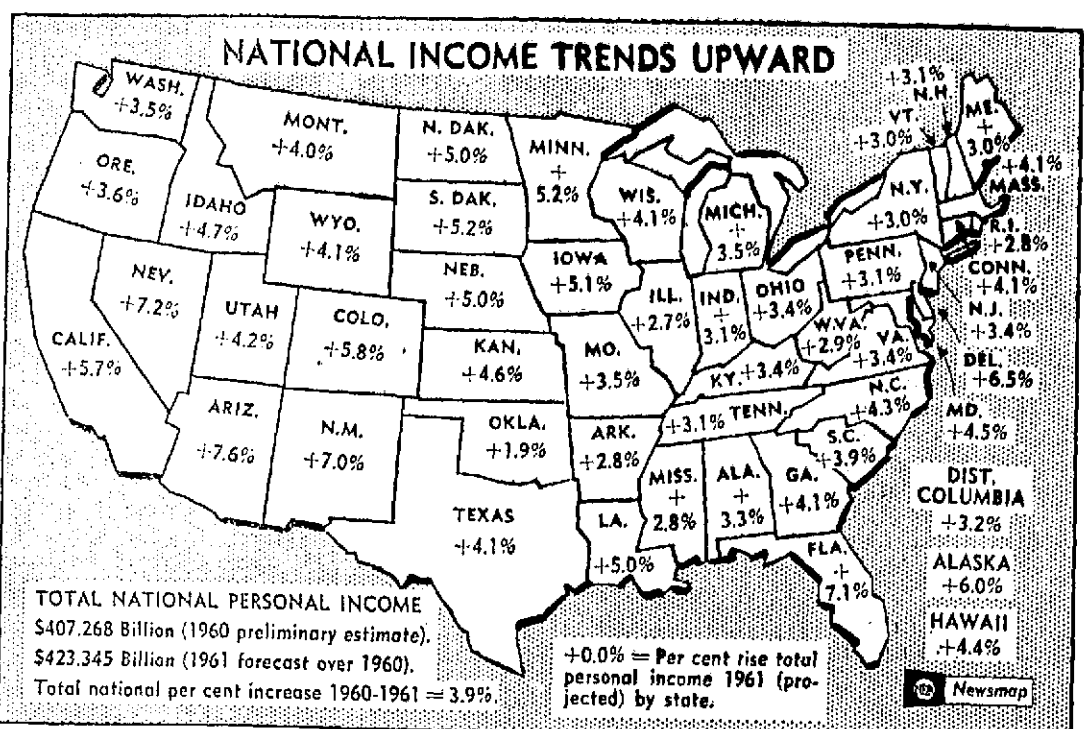

Refusal to submit to a test could result in revocation of the driver's license for six months.

Faulkner County Rep. W. B. Sanson introduced a bill Monday to provide for purchase of lifetime hunting and fishing licenses. The cost would start at $98 for each license for a 16-year-old and decrease at the rate of $2 a year to a minimum of $2 for a person 65 or older.

The Senate dwelt on financial matters in most of Monday's session. Final legislative approval went to a $464,800 annual appropriation for the state Military Department. The Senate passed by a bare 27-vote majority a bill to appropriate $1,800 each for the state's constitutional officers for public relations expenses.

Introduced in the Senate Monday was a bill to require milk offered for sale as "Grade A" or "whole" to have a minimum butterfat content of four per cent. It now must have a 3.4 or 3.5 per cent content.

Educators Ask Changes in Few Items

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Joint Budget Committee today considered requests by Gov. Orval E. Faubus for changes in educational appropriation items, including elimination of a proposal to require the education commissioner to have a doctor's degree.

The provision to require a Ph.D. degree for the education commissioner — which would oust incumbent Arch Ford from the job — was put into the budget recommendations by Perry Rep. Paul Van Dalsem during Legislative Council pre-session budget hearings.

Faubus requested the changes in a letter to Sen. Tom Alley of Brinkley, chairman of the joint committee.

Negro Burglar Killed Inside L. R. Store

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — E. A. Lauderdale, prominent Little Rock segregationist convicted in a bombing here, shot and killed a Negro burglar in his roofing and material store early today, police said.

Officers said 21-year-old George Hill of Little Rock, who was on parole for burglary and grand larceny, ran about 100 feet after Lauderdale fired one shot, then collapsed and died.

The Lauderdale family lives in an apartment at the rear of the Lauderdale Roofing and Material Co.

Detectives told this story: Mrs. Lauderdale was awakened about 2:30 a.m. by dogs barking. She looked through a peephole into the store and saw the front door open, then went and called Lauderdale. He took a .45 caliber automatic pistol and went to the peephole. He saw a Negro man walking toward the door carrying a cash register. Lauderdale yelled for the man to stop, but he kept going, so he fired one shot. The man dropped the register, ran 100 feet down the street, then fell to the ground. Lauderdale then called police.

Mrs. Lauderdale told officers she heard a car start in a parking lot adjoining the building just after the shot was fired.

A door glass had been broken to gain entrance to the store.

Lauderdale was not held. He is free on bond pending a ruling on his appeal to the state Supreme Court from his conviction in connection with integration-related bombings here on Labor Day of 1959.

covered by the law's provisions. For the millions of new workers that would be embraced by the bill—mostly in the retail trades and services—an initial minimum wage of $1 an hour would be fixed. This would be increased to $1.05 in the second year, $1.15 in the third, and $1.25 thereafter.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Labor Committee, said hearings on the administration proposals will begin Feb. 17.

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today keeps the promise he made to send back to Congress the minimum wage legislation defeated there last year when as a senator he was its chief sponsor.

Kennedy is expected to recommend again legislation to boost the present $1 per hour minimum to $1.25 in two stages and to extend coverage to about 4 million additional workers. The law now applies to about 24 million.

As a senator from Massachusetts and the Democratic presidential nominee, Kennedy steered such a bill through the Senate last August after a bitter fight. He refused to accept a milder

House version, remarking at the time, "We'd rather come back and try to do it in January."

A number of business organizations already are gearing for a fight against minimum wage expansion, particularly as to removing present coverage exemptions. The American Retail Federation, for example, in current memoranda to its members says "it does not necessarily follow, just because the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives each passed bills to extend the wage-hour law in 1960, that the process becomes automatic in 1961."

The administration bills will be accompanied by letters from the President and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg recommending them as a way to hike the nation's wage floor and boost the economy.

It is indicated the proposals will closely pattern Kennedy's plan that lost out last year. This called for raising the $1 minimum to $1.15 the first year after the effective date and a $1.25 minimum two years later. New coverage of about 4 to 4 1/2 million workers would be on the basis of the present $1 rate initially.

New coverage proposals are also likely to be much the same as under the former bill. This included 2.64 million retail and service enterprise employees, except those employed by movie theaters, hotels, motels and restaurants, 157,000 in laundries; 107,000 in local transit systems; 100,000 seamen; 41,000 telephone operators; 32,000 in fish processing, and 1 million in establishments where employees already are covered by the law.

music coming from? If some one drops in a coin and makes a call, the conversation has a background of muted trumpets, soft saxophones, delicate violin notes and a gentle piano.

A prominent criminal lawyer is a steady listener to the mysterious music during court recesses. Imagine his embarrassment when he phoned his office and his secretary—hearing the sweet accompaniment for the first time—asked: "Are you in a bar? I hear music."

The telephone booth is in the Criminal Courts Building press room and it's making it hard for reporters to get off the hook when they phone their offices.

When their editors hear "Stay as Sweet as You Are" coming over the wire, they get a bit suspicious.

2 East Teams Accept NCB Tourney Bids

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer

Two Eastern teams, St. Bonaventure and St. John's (New York) already have accepted places in the National Collegiate Basketball championship tournament. And they might as well reserve a spot for Ohio State, even though the Big Ten season is only half over.

The unbeaten Buckeyes, 1960 national champions, vented their wrath over unfavorable comparisons on the Indiana team Monday.

House version, remarking at the time, "We'd rather come back and try to do it in January."

St. Bonaventure, ranked behind Ohio State as the nation's No. 2 team in The Associated Press Poll, rolled over Tennessee State, the No. 1 small college team, 104-87.

Mississippi State continued its strong bid for the Southeastern Conference crown by whipping Tulane 73-59 on a 28-point performance by Jerry Graves while Tennessee knocked once-threatening Florida down into a second-place tie with Vanderbilt. Tennessee handed Florida its second straight loss 83-68; Vandy beat Alabama 73-70. In another SEC surprise, Louisiana State came up with its first victory on the Ole Miss court since 1954-75-69.

As a result of Indiana's defeat, Purdue moved into a third place in the Big Ten standings with a 96-79 triumph over last-place Michigan, gained largely by sinking 40 of 48 free throws. Illinois also passed the Hoosiers by defeating Wisconsin 77-73. In a non-conference game, Michigan State beat Notre Dame 89-74, ending a 24-game winning streak for the Irish on their home floor.

After the first few minutes, Kansas had a fairly easy time against Colorado, weakened by an injury to Wilky Gilmore. Bill Bridges was a stickout for the Jayhawks, scoring 21 points and taking 19 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the Big Eight, Iowa State used sure outside shooting to end a three game losing streak with an 80-63 victory

Miss Brenda Eastorling

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Eastorling, formerly of Hope, announce the engagement of their daughter, Brenda, to A/3C Donald D. Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lingle Owens of English Indiana.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Central High School, Independence, Oregon, and Phagan's School of Beauty, Salem, Oregon, and is employed at the LaBelle Beauty Salon in Independence, Oregon.

Mr. Owens is a graduate of English, Indiana, High School. He is now stationed at Hamilton AFB, California.

The young couple will be wed on April 8th at the First Baptist Church of Monmouth, Oregon.

Nat'l Beauty Salon Week Observance

Some 17 local members of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn. will rededicate themselves to their profession next week, with an all-out program for "National Beauty Salon Week," observed Feb. 12-18 and dedicated to more beautiful women.

"The annual National Beauty Salon Week observance, now in its 11th year, has never had more meaning than it has today," said Diane Beasley, president of Unit 20 in Hope.

"Ours is one of the few professional careers where youth is not the criterion for basic education," Mrs. Beasley explained.

Unit 20 will take part in several programs for the public, among which is the celebrated "Institutional Welfare Program," headed this year by Virginia Fountain of Hazel's Beauty Shop. The local NHCA members will visit Hope Nursing Home and Branch Nursing Home, to treat shut-ins to professional beauty salon services. Permanent waves, hair styling and shaping and corrective shampoos of various types will be given free.

Others heading committees for National Beauty Salon Week, under the direction of NBSW are: Chairman Lillian Wren; Institutional & Welfare, Virginia Fountain; Press, Bobby Murphy; TV, Lois Shirley and Radio, Jean Schneider.

in the home. White stocks and greenery centered the dining table, which had been overlaid with a white lace cloth.

Salad, dessert, coffee, punch, and assorted tidbits were served by various friends of the honoree. Out-of-town guests at the party were Miss Nadine McKinley, Miss Connie Kitley, Mrs. Allen Reynolds, all of Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Dan Logan, Jr. of Gilliam, La. and Mrs. John Freeman of Arkadelphia.

Laneburg F. H. A. Meets

Miss Betty Poe, Home Economist with the Arkansas Power and Light Co. gave a demonstration on the use and care of an electric range at the meeting of the Laneburg F. H. A. meeting. She prepared a balanced meal in order to make her demonstration more clear. The F. H. A. girls enjoyed the demonstration as well as learned a lot from Miss Poe about their electric range.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Guy Linaker, formerly of Hope, is gravely ill at her home in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Since her birthday is February 9, many of her friends might want to send her a card or letter. Her address is 5741 Alexander Ave., Baton Rouge.

W. W. Troutman and Jack Haynes, both of Atlanta, Ga. spent the weekend with Mrs. W. N. Blake. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Troutman and daughter Tandy, who have been visiting Mrs. Blake.

Mrs. Jim McKenzie left Tuesday for Memphis, Tenn., to attend several parties for her daughter Janet, bride-elect of Buddy Nix of Memphis.

Mrs. Allen Reynolds Miss Nadine McKinley, Miss Connie Kitley, and Miss Janet McKenzie spent the weekend with Dr. and Mrs. Jim McKenzie.

Mrs. John Freeman of Arkadelphia visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Moses this weekend.

More Fines on Electrical Firms Likely

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Fines against electrical manufacturing companies reached almost $2 million today as a federal judge completed two days of sentencing for antitrust violations.

Chief Judge J. Cullen Gancy in U.S. District Court completed sentencing on 14 indictments in a little over two hours today, compared with Monday's day-long session on six indictments.

The difference was that Monday defense attorneys made lengthy talks. Today most of them said they stood on what they had said Monday.

Sentencing moved so fast today that at one point Gancy pronounced a $20,000 fine on Cornell-Dubilier Electric Co., Plainfield, N.J., before asking the company attorney if he had anything to say.

"The lawyer jumped to his feet," Gancy apologized, saying:

"Oh, excuse me. I have these worked out so well that I did not notice."

"The lawyer said he felt his company was innocent. After he completed his talk, Gancy repeated the $20,000 fine.

The 29 companies and 45 individuals involved were charged with price fixing and bid rigging in the sale of equipment that generates, transmits and distributes electric power. Fines totaled $1,924,000.

Twenty-two corporate defendants were fined $964,500 today on 14 indictments. Fourteen of their executives were fined $28,500, and five of the 14 also received suspended 30-day jail terms.

Monday Judge Gancy sentenced seven executives to jail for 30 days, and gave 19 others 30-day suspended sentences. All those receiving suspended sentences also were placed on five-year probation "where a watchful eye can be kept on their activities."

Monday Gancy fined 21 firms $822,000 and 36 executives $109,000. In many cases companies and individuals were fined several times, accounting for the overlapping totals.

Gancy rejected defense pleas to temper justice with mercy. But he did soften the government's demand for even harsher penalties while labeling the case "a shocking indictment of a vast section of our economy."

Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy said in a statement that he favored "even more severe sentences" than those recommended by his Justice Department aides.

Under their recommendations the government sought fines totaling $1,227,500 and jail for 23. It said the case involved firms doing an annual business of $2 billion a year, or over $8 billion during the indictment period between 1955 and 1959.

Judge Gancy, a former U.S. attorney who has been on the bench for 20 years, said the 29 corporations and the 45 men "flagrantly mocked the image of the economic system of free enterprise which we profess to the country." He said they "destroyed the model which we offer today as a free world alternative to state control which we offer today as a free world alternative to state control and eventual dictatorship."

Only six of the 20 indictments handed up by four federal grand juries last year were disposed of Monday.

The 21 firms, including America's two biggest—General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp.—were fined a total of $822,500.

The 36 executives, including those jailed, were ordered to pay fines totaling $109,000.

There can be no appeals to a higher court since the defendants had pleaded guilty or chosen not to defend the government charges.

Young Couple Tempts Fate By Free-Wheeling Ways

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

My fiancée and I are living together because we love each other, but can't afford to get married. Neither my parents or her parents know about this. Believe me, it is an entirely innocent situation. I know it is hard to believe that such can be, and we really shouldn't be ashamed or frightened that our folks will find out, but we know they would not understand. Do you think we should tell them and suffer the consequences or keep up this secret routine? We have it worked out so that they won't find out, but we're always afraid they will. Please advise your assistance. — D.

Dear D.: This unconventional arrangement may be as pure as the driven snow but nobody—and that includes your respective parents, will believe it. The only answer, if you truly love one another, is marriage. Why not this afternoon?

Dear Helen:

My problem is my best friend, 15 years old, very pretty, with beautiful long hair, a good figure and fun to be with. She doesn't try to take my boy friends away, it just happens. The first time she cried, I was going with a guy I didn't care much about. These two fell for each other and are now going steady. He's been away in service and she's true to him. But still all my boy friends go for her. And still she says it's not her fault. I believe her. It seems as if the only way out is to break our friendship. Neither of us want that. Have you any suggestions? —Teen-Ager with Problems.

Dear Teen-Ager and all the other Teen-Agers who seek advice on this same problem: You girls will lose, instead of gain favor, with the boys if you chuck the girl friend, just because she is more careful than you.

Show you're a good sport. Encourage the boys to look her up. Though momentarily attracted by her charms they will be secretly infuriated at your seeming indifference and return, if only to prove how wrong you are.

Dear Helen:

We are five college girls boarding at a private home. Our landlady is a widow. When our dates call for us they have to wait on the wet, cold doorstep. Our landlady says it wouldn't be proper to ask them in. The neighbors might talk.

She has made other rules which we obey but in this, we feel she is not only being prudish but rude. Are we right or wrong? —"Gay Girls."

Dear "Gay Girls": You are entirely right. Tell your landlady to come out of the Victorian age into the 20th Century. And remind

Goat Has 6 Kids

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—A 3-year-old Newban-Alpine goat owned by Cleo Heffington of Conway, gave birth to six kids Saturday. One of them died soon after birth but the other five are healthy.

Two kids is the normal expectancy. This goat has given birth to three kids twice before.

Upholds Law on Bringing in Industry

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—A law permitting counties to join in financing industry has been upheld in Chancery Court, but part of a proposed lease by the Mar-Bax Shirt Corp. at Gassville has been ruled unconstitutional.

The factory is to be built under the provisions of Act 2 of 1960, one of several laws passed in a special session of the Arkansas Legislature to promote industrial financing. Act 2 authorizes the joint financing.

A taxpayers group indicated the ruling of Chancellor Ernie E. Wright Saturday would be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Marion and Baxter county voters approved a $535,000 bond issue to finance the Gassville plant, in Baxter County. Wright said it was constitutional for Marion County to help finance a Baxter plant since Marion labor would be employed.

But Wright said the company could not require, as it proposed in a lease, that the counties refrain from encouraging other new industries employing women as long as it employed 400 workers in the Gassville plant.

The judge said the granting of tax favors to the company also was unconstitutional. This referred to a plan in the proposed lease by which the two counties would be obligated to pay property taxes on Mar-Bax personal property used in the business.

Wright also held that the county courts could not deliver money received from the proposed bond sale to the industrial commission, but must handle the money themselves.

Eyeglasses Clue in Murder Case

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Richmond, Va. optician testified today that a broken pair of eyeglasses, part of the government's case against Melvin Davis Rees Jr., were purchased by Carroll V. Jackson Jr. of Apple Grove, Va.

It was testified earlier during Rees' kidnap trial that the glasses were found at the scene near Fredericksburg, Va., where Jackson and 18-month-old daughter, Janet, were found slain about two years ago.

The optician, Howard L. Garner, told the all-male jury today that the frame and lens shown him by a government attorney were both purchased at his store in Richmond.

Rees is on trial on a charge of kidnaping Jackson's wife and another daughter when the family disappeared Jan. 11, 1959.

Eighteen days after Jackson and Janet were found dead, the severely beaten bodies of Mrs. Mildred Jackson and daughter Susan, 5, were discovered buried in a shallow grave near Gambrills, Md.

The 32-year-old dance band from Hyattsville, Md., arrested last year in West Memphis, Ark., has pleaded innocent. The government has asked the all-male jury to recommend the death penalty under the Lindbergh law forbidding the taking of kidnap victims across a state line.

The trial resumed in U. S. District Court after a weekend recess.

'Most Wanted' Fugitive Caught

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Chester Cole, 22, one of the FBI's ten most wanted fugitives, surrendered today to FBI agents at Gulf Breeze, Fla.

Cole escaped from a prison camp at Fort Myers, Fla., last Aug. 6 with six other prisoners. He was serving a life sentence for armed robbery.

Cole was put on the FBI's list of ten most wanted criminals last Thursday.

Today he telephoned a FBI agent at Pensacola, Fla., to say the "heat" of the FBI pursuit made further flight useless. The FBI quoted Cole, after he gave himself up, as saying "I'm glad it's all over with."

Wants No Vote on Bond Issues

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said "no" today when asked a tax news conference if he would like to put elections on bond issues and other questions in the same category as race tracks elections.

Counties voting to establish dog or horse racing tracks must get approval of a majority of qualified voters instead of just a majority of those voting under legislation asked by Faubus and passed by the current General Assembly.

Faubus said he considered race tracks in a different category but wouldn't elaborate.

Other issues require only a majority of those voting for approval.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By HENRY FARRELL
Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Syndicate Assn.

THE STORY: The former child star Baby Jane Hudson, has advertised for an accompanist and plans to return to the stage, although she is now an old woman. Her newspaper ad has been seen by Edwin Flagg, who lives with his mother Del.

Bill Signed to Freeze Districts

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today signed into law a bill to "freeze" the state's congressional districts as far as official boards and commissions are concerned.

The measure provides that even though the districts are reduced in number, boards on which membership is allotted by the present areas will still operate that way.

Other bills signed by Faubus will: Permit additional borrowing power for school districts in hardship cases, provide maintenance for two additional cottages at the Arkansas Children's Colony, prohibit a child from entering public schools who is not six years old by Oct. 1 of the school year and make a supplemental appropriation to increase the salary of the Oil and Gas Commission director.

Fronidizi's Man Is Defeated

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Buenos Aires voters have defeated President Arturo Frondizi's senatorial candidate, favoring men from two other parties and killing Frondizi's hopes for a prestige showing.

The president's great majority in Congress remains unaffected, but Frondizi had hoped that victory for his choice in Buenos Aires' election would be a sign the people accept the government's austerity policies.

Fire Is Fatal

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Miss Beulah Moore, 61, of Bono, died Saturday night in a Jonesboro hospital of burns suffered on Jan. 25 when her clothes ignited from a heating stove at her home.

She is survived by a brother, A. P. Moore of Jonesboro.

Del studied his face broadly.

Without looking up, Edwin nodded.

Del Flagg, having subjected the ad to the same feverish scrutiny that a curator might have lavished upon an ancient manuscript, looked up finally and smiled.

"Why," she said with wary brightness, "this seems just about made to order for you, don't it?"

Del reached out to the phone, touched the receiver, then drew back his hand. This was the nightmare plunge into the hostile unknown — the breaking away — that he had feared all his life. He could feel the moisture gathering on his forehead. Swallowing hard, he looked down at the phone and at the number marked in the newspaper. He raised his gaze slowly to Del's, his eyes wide with a frightened appeal.

"You call for me, huh?" he said, putting the phone back into her hands. "You do it."

"You think night clubs are good for somebody who's artistic?" She stroked her hand across the paper one last time and put it down beside him on the bench. "Does it just mean night clubs around here — or out-of-town ones, too?"

"How should I know? It isn't my ad, you know."

"Well — I don't know." She was watching him now, carefully, but trying to make her gaze blank. "Would you want to go away like that — out of town — with somebody like that?"

"Well, if I want the job, and they want me for it, I suppose I'll have to do what they want me to. Won't I?"

Del nodded morosely. "Yeah, I guess you would — if you wanted to let yourself be like that." Her gaze moved away evasively.

Edwin's irritation leaped inside him like a small, furious animal. What he wouldn't give to be away from here — away from her — free! For the first time in his life the spark of ambition came alive for Edwin, and suddenly he wished he did not have misgivings about the ad. He wished he could believe that the job was real, was his, that he was going to be hired to play at television studios and night clubs — miles and miles away.

"It doesn't say if this star is a man or — or a lady. It just says it's a star. You'd think they'd figure you'd want to know, wouldn't you?"

"What's the difference?"

"Well, if it's someone you're going to be traveling with — and all —"

"I haven't got the job yet. I haven't even called to ask about it."

Though Edwin did not believe in the ad's legitimacy, the more she opposed the idea, the more imperative it became for him to do so — as a kind of confirmation inside him. He nodded down at the paper. "It's the only thing that's turned up since I started looking."

Del nodded, her eyes bleak.

He reached out to the phone, touched the receiver, then drew back his hand. This was the nightmare plunge into the hostile unknown — the breaking away — that he had feared all his life. He could feel the moisture gathering on his forehead. Swallowing hard, he looked down at the phone and at the number marked in the newspaper. He raised his gaze slowly to Del's, his eyes wide with a frightened appeal.

"You call for me, huh?" he said, putting the phone back into her hands. "You do it."

Ohio State Is Still Nation's Best Team

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State shut out all opposition for the eighth straight week today in the weekly Associated Press poll to determine the No. 1 major college basketball team in the nation.

It was a 36-0 clean sweep of the sports writers and sportscasters voting from coast to coast. All voting was based on games through Saturday, Feb. 4.

Winner of 16 straight this year and 21 in a row over a two-year span, Ohio State polished off two more victims last week when it beat Wisconsin and Michigan. The Buckeyes added another victim Monday night, Indiana 100-65.

St. Bonaventure almost had a clean sweep of the second-place votes after knocking off Bradley in a Thursday game at Madison Square Garden 75-61. The Bonnies drew 33 seconds. Two went to Duke and one to Mississippi State.

Duke, coming on strong with a seven-game winning streak to match the Bonnies, took third place by a comfortable margin over Bradley which was fourth despite defeats by both Cincinnati and St. Bonaventure.

The top 10 with first place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (36) 360
2. St. Bonaventure 312
3. Duke 274
4. Bradley 172
5. Cincinnati 151
6. North Carolina 148
7. Kansas State 119
8. Southern California 85
9. Iowa 65
10. Louisville 61

Chamberlain Is Leading Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — Week to week the National Basketball Association's scoring story reads the same: Wilt Chamberlain.

Philadelphia's still continues to lead the scoring parade with 2108 points and a 37.6 point average. He also is the most accurate shooter from the field, with a .491 percentage, and is No. 1 in rebounds, with a 27.7 average, according to league statistics released today.

Chamberlain's closest competitor in the scoring race still is Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, who has scored 1,931 points for a 35.1 average.

Baylor picked up 35 additional points Monday night as the Lakers whipped the Cincinnati Royals 110-101 in the only game scheduled. Oscar Robertson, the Royals' brilliant rookie, was the game's high scorer with 37 points.

ALL HANDS—University of California's Camden Wall, left, possibly thinks he has the ball as he grabs teammate Earl Schultz, head, Stanford's John Windsor, right, has a two-handed hold on the ball—and a face full of fingers.

TCU last Saturday night, will replace slumping Alan Morrison, who was held scoreless against the Horned Frogs.

The Porkers will have to overcome the best big-little man combination in the conference in Tech's 6-9 Harold Hudgens and 5-10 Del Ray Mounts.

Hudgens is a rebounding ace and a tip-in artist and Mounts is the team's floor leader and jumpshot wizard. Both are 30-point-per-night material.

Besides Boyer, Arkansas will start with Clyde Rhoden, Ronnie Garner, Jerry Carlton and Pat Foster, who scored 29 points against TCU. Tech's other starters will be 6-4 Roger Henning, 6-5 Tom Pattey and 6-3 Mac Percival.

Cotton Bowl Split Is $173,402 Each

DALLAS (AP) — Arkansas and Duke will get 173,402 each out of the Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl football game which the Blue Devils won, 7-6.

Howard Grubbs, secretary of the Cotton Bowl Association, said checks for $169,902.31 went out to the two schools Monday and $3,500 more will go to each school when percentages from concessions and programs are determined.

Arkansas will keep $76,260. It gets $60,000 plus $2,445 travel expense and a share in the $110,555 that goes to the Southwest Conference for distribution to the eight members, $13,819.37 per school will be $11,055.56.

Duke keeps $11,055.56, its check with the remainder going to the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Porkers Need Victory Over Tech Raiders

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — League-leading Texas Tech meets second-place Arkansas here tonight in one of the most crucial Southwest Conference basketball games of the season.

If the Razorbacks upset the Red Raiders, and Texas and Texas A&M win their respective games, all four teams will be tied for the SWC lead.

Arkansas, A&M and Texas have 4-2 records to Tech's 5-1. A&M faces Rice tonight and Texas takes on SMU.

The Razorbacks have the percentages working in their favor against Tech. In the nine-game series between the schools, neither has won on the opponent's court. Arkansas holds a 5-4 series edge.

Arkansas Coach Glen Rose will run red-hot sophomore Tommy Boyer into the starting lineup in an effort to get an early scoring advantage. Boyer, who scored a season high of 21 points against TCU last Saturday night, will replace slumping Alan Morrison, who was held scoreless against the Horned Frogs.

The Porkers will have to overcome the best big-little man combination in the conference in Tech's 6-9 Harold Hudgens and 5-10 Del Ray Mounts.

Hudgens is a rebounding ace and a tip-in artist and Mounts is the team's floor leader and jumpshot wizard. Both are 30-point-per-night material.
